Dandelime Press Release May 2010

Young Designer Launches Innovative Garden Furniture Design Company in South Warwickshire.
Design does not get better than this!

Dandelime is a fun and zesty furniture design company set up by young Warwickshire designer, Tom Walton, to create amazing looking sculptural garden furniture that looks great in outdoor settings. This month, Tom is launching his inspirational outdoor furniture range in time for the summer months.

Tom, who has a degree in Industrial Design and Technology from Loughborough University, was born and raised in Long Compton.

After several years at award-winning design agency Tin Horse, where he tackled all kinds of design challenges, Tom has taken the plunge and set up his own business, Dandelime, to turn his design ideas, inspired by nature and the natural environment, into reality.

Tom says of the launch of Dandelime "I am delighted to be launching my garden furniture range, as I am passionate about good design and it is marvellous to be turning my designs into reality. The furniture is made by hand from of a variety of materials from wood to metal and stone, is all designed to enhance the outdoor environment and is comfortable too!"

Tom's bespoke garden furniture is manufactured using skilled craftsmen in South Warwickshire.

Tom's furniture will be displayed at the Idlicote Art show in Warwickshire, from 25th to the 27th June, 2010; and is being promoted at Whichford Pottery in Whichford, Warwickshire. The furniture will also be on display at the Shipston Home Nursing Garden Lecture Series, Armscote Manor, from the 11th to the 15th of October, 2010.
